Study Abroad

Each National Merit Scholars in good academic standing is eligible for a one-time award of up to $6,000 for an international study abroad experience. The student must receive approval from the UT Dallas Education Abroad Office in order to receive any funding. After they receive approval from the EA Office, the NMSP Study Abroad Stipend Application will appear in their EA Portal. The final award amount is based on academic merit of the applicant’s trip, duration of the study, and the proposed budget.

Summer Usage

National Merit Finalist Scholarship recipients at UT Dallas may be allowed to apply their scholarship toward summer courses. Students must be in good academic standing with their National Merit Finalist Scholarship program requirements. Please note: the summer semester will count as one of the eight semesters of scholarship eligibility. Students will receive their semester stipend in addition to tuition and mandatory fees for the summer term.

Program Requirements

Students receiving the National Merit Finalist Scholarship must maintain timely progress toward graduation, earn a 3.0 Grade Point Average (GPA) as well as meet the semester and academic year requirements listed below to continue receiving their scholarship.

- End of Semester Survey: Complete a semester survey at the end of each semester to renew your scholarship for the next semester.
- Semester Requirements: Earn a 3.0 GPA or higher each semester and complete a minimum of 15 unique UT Dallas credit hours.
- Academic Year Requirements: Earn a cumulative 3.0 GPA or higher and complete a minimum of 30 unique UT Dallas credit hours.

Recipients will be placed on probation for failing to achieve the above requirements. Probation requires students to meet with an Academic Success Advisor to create an individual probation plan for the semester and meet periodically with their Honors College Advisor.

Full-Time Status

National Merit Finalist Scholarship recipients are required to maintain full-time student status while receiving their scholarship. Full-time status requires 12 semester credit hours for undergraduate students at UT Dallas. The Office of Student AccessAbility can adjust the full-time requirements on a case-by-case basis for university and scholarship standing.

Under special circumstances, a student may choose to enroll part-time at UT Dallas while receiving the National Merit Finalist Scholarship. Permission is granted in extraordinary circumstances for students who maintain progress to a timely graduation and are in good academic and scholarship standing.

Deferral Before Freshman Year

Incoming freshmen that accept a National Merit Finalist Scholarship may seek to defer their scholarship for a maximum of two semesters if they do not attend an institution of higher education prior to enrolling at UT Dallas. Incoming freshman attending another institution of higher learning prior to enrolling in UT Dallas will have their scholarship offer revoked. Recipients must receive approval from the National Merit Scholars Program prior to the first day of classes and must also receive approval for a deferral from the UT Dallas Office of Admissions and Enrollment Services.

Deferral for Current Scholars

National Merit Finalist Scholarship recipients may defer their scholarship for a maximum of two semesters for extenuating circumstances or for study abroad or internship opportunities. Students must receive approval from the National Merit Scholars Program prior to the first day of classes.
